DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 as written is unclear. It is unclear whether the conductive particle comprises a base particle, a core material and a conductive film or whether the conductive particle only constitutes the a base particle, while the conductive film and the core material are added to the conductive particle when using the conductive particle.

Claim 4 as written is unclear. It is unclear whether or not the base particle and the plated coat are part of the conductive.

In claim 9, "conductive particles" (plural) has no proper antecedent basis.

In claim 10, it is unclear how the 'conductive particles' are related to the preamble "anisotropic conductive material". In addition, "conductive particles" (plural) has no proper antecedent basis.

Other claims are deemed indefinite in view of their dependency upon claim 1 or claim 4.
